Dear Karen Battle,

This is yet another attempt at getting information about one group--American Indian and Alaska Native--and ignoring information about the "two or more races" population. What do we have to do to be included?

Dear Census Bureau Stakeholder,

The Census Bureau has reopened the comment period for Soliciting Feedback from Users on 2020 Census Data Products that was published in the Federal Register on July 19, 2018 (Document Number 2015-15458).

The reopened notice, published with a 30-day comment period closes on November 8, 2018. All comments and information received during the prior comment period, as well as those received between September 17 and November 8 will be fully considered and do not need to be resubmitted.

We have reopened the comment period because stakeholder feedback is fundamental to our review of decennial census data products in preparation for the 2020 Census. As we prepare our 2020 data products, it is critical that we receive feedback from our stakeholders about the ways they use decennial census data products. Because of improved disclosure avoidance procedures that will be implemented for the 2020 Census, it is unlikely we will be able to produce the same amount of detailed data we have produced in past decennial census. The feedback you provide is essential as we plan our data products for the 2020 Census.

The Census Bureau requests feedback from users on specific decennial census products, such as Summary File 1, Summary File 2, and the Demographic Profile. We encourage users to review the original notice, which includes specific details about the feedback we are seeking and a link to an optional spreadsheet that will help users provide detailed feedback.

A recorded informational webinar is available to view to assist users with how to respond to the notice and use the optional spreadsheet.

We welcome written comments, which can be submitted via regulations.gov, emailed to POP.2020.DataProducts@census.gov, or mailed to Karen Battle, Chief, Population Division, U.S. Census Bureau 6H174, Washington, DC 20233. Comments must be received in writing by November 8, 2018.

Your feedback is critical to help us plan for 2020 Census Data Products. Please respond today and share this opportunity with others who may be interested.

Thank you,

Karen Battle
Chief, Population Division
U.S. Census Bureau
